Notes for Today’s Worship

About the Worship Leader
Demi McCoy, also known as “Demi Day,” is a spoken word minister and hip-hop artist from Upper Marlboro, MD. Her passion and talent has led her to minister at various churches, conferences, and events across the nation. Most of her work focuses on community and social justice as it relates to race, gender, and sexuality. In addition to being a student at Wake Forest School of Divinity, Demi also serves as an intern at Emmanuel Baptist Church in Winston-Salem.

Worship
Today’s worship service was planned by Brian Hollingsworth (MDiv ’17), Sophia Russell (MDiv ’18), and Demi McCoy (MDiv ’17).

The altar design was created by Demi McCoy.

The bulletin cover is a photo from the “Infusions” series by Cliff Briggie.

Communion
Communion today is celebrated by intinction. You will be given a piece of bread that you are invited to dip into the wine or grape juice. The bread is gluten free and baked by Marisa Fraley (MDiv ’17). Wine and grape juice are present in both chalices. Wine is in the lesser-filled side of the chalice and inscribed with a “W.” Grape juice is in the greater-filled side of the chalice and is inscribed with a “J.”

Special Words of Welcome
The Office of Admissions and Student Services welcomes our guests joining us for Wake Divinity Day Spring Open House. Today’s worship is enriched by your presence.

Davis Chapel During Lent
Throughout the season of Lent, the chapel space will display visual reminders of our wilderness journey of fasting and repentance. The tapestries at the front have been replaced with purple cloth, symbolizing suffering and penitence. The altar design, including sand and stones, symbolizes desert and wilderness. The fountain will remain off, reminding us of our longing and thirst for God. The open windows, and the single candle in the middle of the altar, symbolize God’s light and presence with us, even in darkness.
