Highlighted Student

Will Elliott

One of our most vibrant and easy-going seniors is William Earl Elliott. Will is currently involved at Wake Forest Baptist Church as a recent member and aims to do a CPE residency upon graduation. This year, his personal ministry includes writing a Spiritual Memoir. He enjoys creative writing, hiking up Pilot Mountain, playing poker and wearing hilarious T-shirts. He has slaved feverishly in Admissions over the last few years and works hard to recruit other poker players and snappy dressers. He originally hails from Maryville, Tennessee.

Mammon – Financial aid news

Refund Checks

Have you ever had trouble receiving your loan refund check? If so, that problem should now be history. After several meetings of the Student Financial Services Office, Financial Aid Office, the Admissions Office, and other interested parties, the missing links have been identified and addressed. Your role still remains the most vital link, however. To assist you in fulfilling your part, a checklist will be placed in your mailbox. This checklist will also be distributed to faculty advisors to insure all aspects are completed during registration for classes. Per usual, if you have any problems, my office door is open. Remember that Charlie Crisp from Financial Aid is also available to chat with you on Thursdays, Noon-2:00 p.m. in the Admissions Office.

A. G. Bullard Scholarship

Do you belong to a church associated with the North Carolina Baptist State Convention? If so, you may be eligible for a scholarship from the Bullard Family Fund. Check out <http://www.ncbaptistfoundation.org/library.html#loans> to view criteria and to print out an application. Or you may drop the admissions office for the forms. Award amounts vary from year to year.

Cost of Attendance

The 2005-06 cost of attendance for the Divinity School is $28,245. This budget reflects full-time status. If you drop below nine hours, be advised that your financial aid package may change. Please contact me if you are considering dropping below full-time status.
